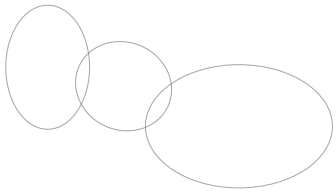
Draw a gorilla

Start off by sketching lightly with pencil

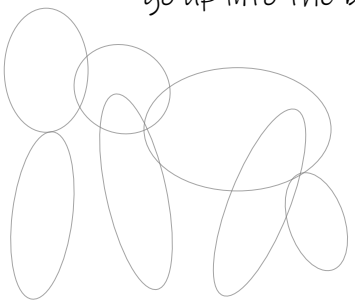
1.



Sketch 3 circles to be the head, neck and back. Make sure your head is taller and more upright that the other circles.

(Notice the middle 2 go up into the body)

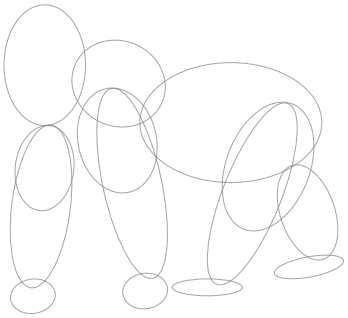
2.



Sketch 4 oval shapes that will become the arms and the legs.

3. Sketch round circles onto the arms and the front leg. These will help you draw the big muscles later on.

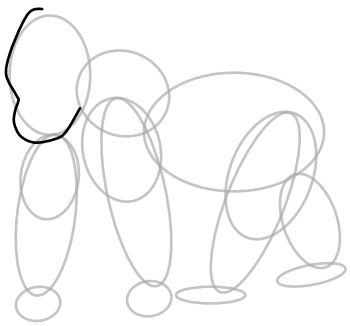
(You can don't need this on the back leg)



Don't forget to add small circles on the end of arms for hands and stretched ovals on the legs for feet!

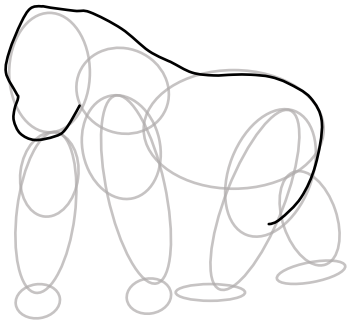
Now using pen or a darker, solid pencil line...

4.



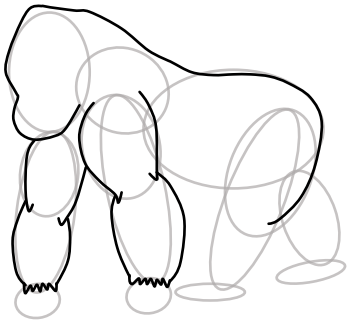
Draw a line from the chin to the top of the head, not forgetting an indent for the forehead.

5.



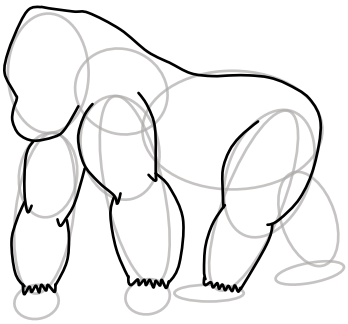
Continue the line from the top of the head along the dip of the back, around the backside and finish on the muscle of the leg.

6.



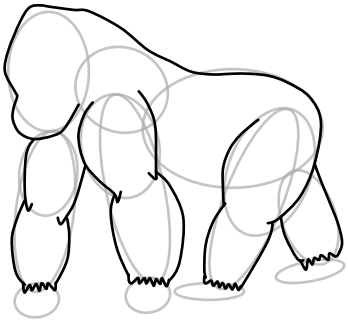
Draw the arms, separating the upper muscle from the lower arm with tufts of hair. Use zig-zag lines to make the bottom look fury too.

7.



Starting at the curve you've already drawn for the backside, finish the leg in the same style as the arms.

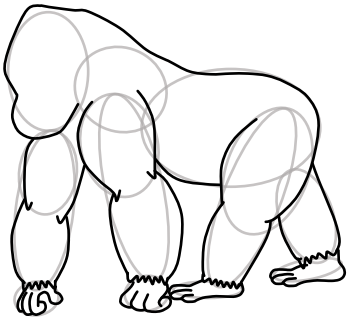
8.



Remember it is only the lower leg as it is on the side of the body we cannot see.

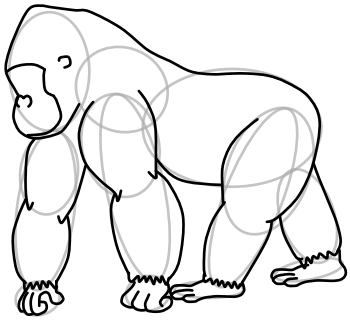
From the same backside curve, draw the back leg.

9.



Add hands that look like knuckles and feet with extra long toes. You can also draw a tummy by joining the arm and leg.

10.



Draw an ear and a face before colouring in.
